Getting to know the Third Branch

You may not realize how important a role the courts and the legal system play in our constitutional democracy.

For one thing, the judicial branch is a key component of the three-part system of checks and balances we have in our government, along with the legislative and executive branches — also known as Congress and the President.

For another, the State Bar of Wisconsin believes that a neutral, fair, and impartial justice system is vital to the health of our state, both individually and as a community.

Therefore, the Public Education Committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin has launched a program called Our Courts Wisconsin aimed at furthering public knowledge and understanding the courts and the legal system.

Free Community Presentations

Our Courts Wisconsin programs are available free of charge to community groups. If your organization needs a speaker to provide nonpartisan, knowledgeable and informative facts about the legal system, please contact us.

Knowledgeable Presenters

Volunteer teams of lawyers and judges have worked together to develop engaging programs and establish a group of trained speakers for Our Courts Wisconsin.

Our Courts Wisconsin Programs

Lincoln's Legacy — This essay was written by Hon. Russell E. Carparelli, a Colorado Court of Appeals judge since 2003, with the collaboration of the Colorado Judicial Commission and Our Courts Colorado. This essay shares a personal side of Abraham Lincoln and offers attendees an understanding of how Lincoln guided our nation to move closer to the ideals of equality and liberty. We do not speak of Abraham Lincoln as one of our nation's Founders, yet we owe him an incalculable debt of gratitude for his commitment to the principles of equality and liberty stated in the Declaration of Independence and for transforming the Constitution to give those principles the power of law.

Myths and Realities in Wisconsin's Courts — This humorous presentation will help audiences understand the judicial system through excerpts from various pop culture depictions of court proceedings. The entertainment industry often presents an unrealistic and unflattering view of what happens in the courtroom, and this program aims to correct some of the misinformation. From Judge Judy to John Grisham, we'll be separating myth from reality and learning more about the court system along the way.

Criminal Court System — The Our Courts Criminal Court System program is an entertaining, informative presentation on the ins-and-outs of the criminal court system. Each presentation highlights clips from movies and actual court cases, with attorney presenters breaking down the courtroom scenes and explaining how each one demonstrates various elements of a criminal proceeding. Criminal court can be very complex, so this presentation starts right at the beginning of a case. Presenters will first examine the arrest and gradually proceed to the sentencing, all the while relying on recent, highly publicized court cases to make the program relatable to all audiences.
